The perfect complement to your MFP when smart centralised document conversion, document separation or filtering is required.

Document conversion is all about converting file types from one file format to another.

Umango Convert provides the automated conversion, document separation and image filtering of a wide range of file formats into a unified file name and file format without requiring user intervention.

Sources of documents to convert could be from an existing folder, email address or MFP and convert these via OCR to Word, Excel or text searchable PDF/A (as well as many others).

Umango separator sheets can be used to scan volumes of documents conveniently in the one scan. Route converted documents to email addresses (as a hyperlink or as an attachment), network folder, to FTP or to arrange of document management systems including SharePoint.

Do you have a unique document converting and routing requirement?

Umango Convert even supports creating your own custom scripts to provide your own turnkey solution.

Umango Convert also runs as a Windows Service which means once you have configured your jobs you can close the application and it will run in the background – simply set and forget.

Licensing is based on install instance each license can be activated at 1 PC (desktop or server) - reinstalls require deactivation. Each Document Sources requires a Licence, Example of three email address' to monitor would require 3 licences.

Umango Convert CB-000-ZZ: product is full featured. Additional threads CO-004-ZZ: Allows Umango Convert to have additional "off ramps" to be able to process and convert multiple documents to text searchable PDF/A at the same time. Purchase threads as required for heavy duty environments.
